

I have committed my life to climbing. I have travelled the world for the past 30 years, climbing with some of the world's greatest and at times leading the way.

Performance counts, and today's elites need to get the absolute best from their gear – whether it's hardware or clothing. It needs to be slick, robust and utterly dependable. I am interested in both substance and style, and I want a say in the climbing products I use daily. I feel I have the insight to design products that people want and which will help them get the most from their climbing, whatever their level.

The Moon team are all dedicated, talented climbers with a broad range of expertise to draw on. Personal experience is undoubtedly the best way to learn something, whether it be how to place gear, how to train hard and stay injury free or how to pick the best crash pad for the job in hand. All of us at Moon have learned the answers to these and many other questions, and we're still discovering stuff. We certainly don't claim to know everything, but we want to share what we do know.

I hope you enjoy what's on offer and that you benefit in some way from the products and information you find.
